

Yes it is all burnt ... rather a big shock after being subjected to Murdunna. (I was on my way here when the Dunalley fires went down and had to return to Murdunna.)

Had to go for a walk out across the button grass plain to the south to get over the charred landscape.
All god down there.

Then i got over it and took advantage of the easy walking the burnt ground offered.

Always wanted to know about these guys...
