

Kings Tableland Walk (Dharug & Gundungurra Country)

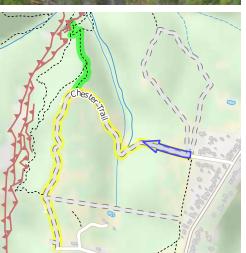

Used as an Aboriginal Gathering Place for 14,000 years, the Kings Tableland walk goes through one of the most historically important areas in the Blue Mountains. Along the escarpment through dry scrub, this is a living demonstration of the surviving nature of the Australian bushland. A short trip out to Rocket Point caps off this walk with fantastic views of Wentworth Falls. Let us begin by acknowledging the Dharug & Gundungurra people, Traditional Custodians of the land on which we travel today, and pay our respects to their Elders past and present.

Getting to the start: From Great Western Highway, A32

- Turn on to Tableland Road then drive for 1.2 km
- Turn right onto Chester Road and drive for another 260 m

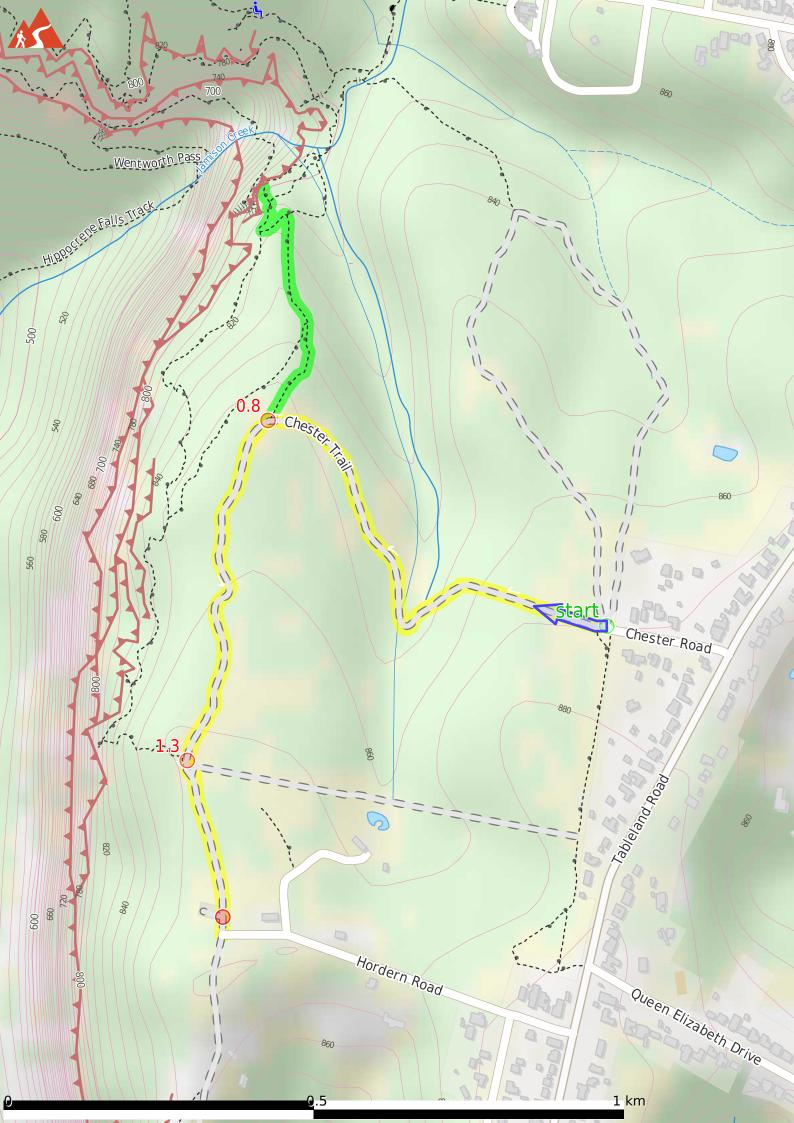

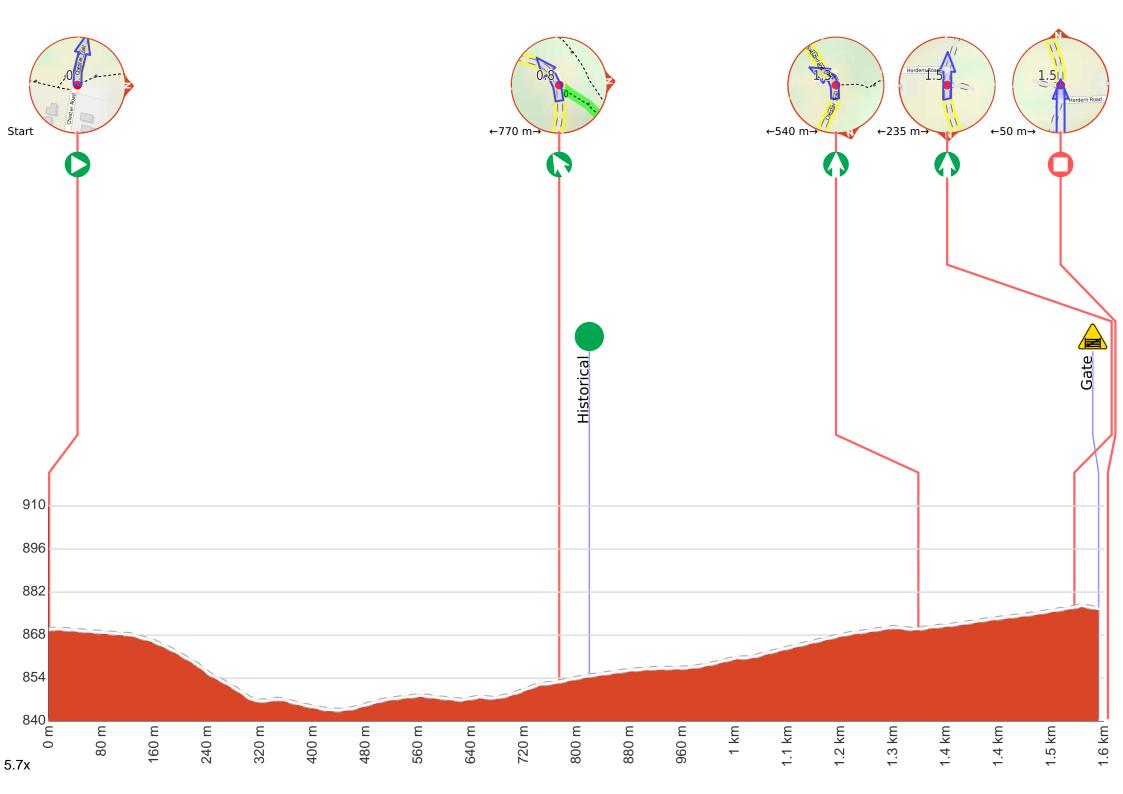

Before you start any journey ensure you;

- Tell someone you trust where you are going and what to do if you are late returning
- · Have adequate equipment, supplies, skills & knowledge to undertake this journey safely
- Consider weather forecasts, park/track closures & fire dangers
- Can respond to emergencies & call for help at any point
- · Are healthy and fit enough for this journey

If not, change plans and stay safe. It is okay to delay and ask people for help.

Getting started: From the gate end of Chester Rd, this walk heads past the 'Chester Rd Firetrail' sign and continues west along the flat trail. Soon, the track descends relatively steeply for a short period before flattering out once again. The management trail continues along the flat until coming to a clearing and intersection at a 'Rocket Point Track' sign.

Start of an optional side trip: An optional side trip to Rocket Point Lookout.

To start this optional side trip turn right here. Start.

After another 160 m continue straight.

After another 165 m turn left.

After another 50 m turn sharp right.

After another 60 m continue straight.

After another 10 m come to "Rocket Point Lookout".

Rocket Point Lookout is a fenced and signposted lookout, high on the cliff south-west of Wentworth Falls, in the Blue Mountains National Park. The lookout provides a good view down Wentworth Falls and into the valley. There is also a great view of the Sublime Point escarpment. The lookout itself has an interesting sandstone wall and is just down from a natural rock arch.

Turn around and retrace your steps back the 450 m to the main route.

Back at the main route continue straight and follow on from the 770 m waypoint.

After another 770 m veer left.

The first point of Aboriginal and European contact in the Blue Mountains, King's Tableland is a significant Aboriginal meeting spot. Historical and cultural sites on the tableland include open campsites, occupation shelters, axe grinding grooves, stone arrangements and art sites, including cave paintings and rock engravings.

After another 270 m head through/around the gate.

Continue straight.

After another 50 m come to the end.
